Graduate

History & Master of Library Science

History is our preserved past, and it’s meant to be studied and shared. You can do your part by graduating with the dual Master of Library Science / Master of Arts in History, and then putting it to work in places like a library, archive, historical society, or museum.

You’ll also earn two degrees in fewer credit hours—and less time—than it would take to earn them separately.

The Department of History offers the M.A. in history.

How to Apply

You must apply for admission to—and meet the admission requirements for—both programs. See our program’s information for domestic students and international students.

Requirements (Minimum of 50 Credit Hours)

M.L.S. Foundation Requirements (18 cr.)

M.L.S. digital literacy requirement.

M.L.S. Electives (3 cr.)
Choose from information and library science courses.

M.A. Requirements (20 cr.)
The Department of History provides information about the M.A. requirements.

Graduation
You will graduate after you finish both degrees—the degrees must be awarded simultaneously.

Tuition Rates

Different Indiana University schools charge different graduate tuition rates. For dual degrees, you will be coded in one of the two schools and pay that school’s tuition rate. To switch to the other school’s tuition rate, contact that department’s recorder as you near the halfway point in your program.

Professional Development

- dh+lib (digital humanities and librarianship) at the Association of College and Research Libraries (ACRL)
- Digital Humanities Now
- Rare Books and Manuscripts Section of the ACRL
- Society of American Archivists

Pre-Fall 2013 Requirements

If you began the M.L.S. / M.A. in History before fall 2013, you have different requirements.
